

ALBERTA ELECTION SLATED FOR JUNE 28th

OBITUARY

SUDDEN DEATH OF THOMAS BARNWELL MARTIN

As The Times goes to press word comes of the sudden death of Thomas Barnwell Martin, barrister of Macleod. Mr. Martin has been in poor health for several months, suffering from acute indigestion, but had been able to attend to his legal business, and had been at his office late Wednesday night, and today (Thursday) he had been advised by his physician to remain in bed and rest with the object of recuperation, his condition not being considered particularly serious. Between 7 and 8 o'clock tonight on enquiry by Mrs. Martin he stated he was feeling better, but, within a few minutes he had shown signs of acute distress and died almost instantly from heart failure. Mr. Martin's sudden death comes as a severe shock to this community and his sincere sympathy is evoked on behalf of Mrs. Martin and Miss Gwendolyn and Master Barnwell in their overwhelming bereavement.

MACLEOD ELKS PUT ACROSS BIG MINSTREL SHOW—AN EXCELLENT PRESENTATION—HUGE ATTENDANCE

Last Thursday night one of the largest audiences seen in Macleod, crowded the Empress theatre to more than capacity, when the first performance of the Macleod Elks' minstrel show was held. From 8.15 till 11.30 the huge audience was treated to a splendid program of songs, sketches, jokes and topical numbers that brought forth encores and applause. The first half of the program was the usual minstrel circle with 30 blackfaced artists, six cornermen and interlocutor in a very enjoyable selection of southern songs, duets and quartettes, interspersed with witty gags between the corner men and interlocutor. A large number of local song hits, last composition of Chas. K. Underwood (SeeKay) who was responsible for the production, and organized the entertainment and who deserves great commendation and praise for the splendid and pleasing program produced. That the various items were greatly enjoyed by the large audience, was clearly testified by the demand for a number of the selections had to be repeated over and over again. The six corner men, Percy Longley, Nick Hart, Bill Satterwaite, I. Dixon, Bill Lingings and Roger Hunt kept the house in roars of laughter with comical antics and jokes. The second half was taken up with individual songs and recitations followed by an old fashioned "hoe down" in which 14 of the cast took part. In this last sketch special mention should be made of the Dixon taking the part of Aunt Chloe, and Bill Satterwaite as Uncle Tom, both these old nigger characters were perfectly portrayed, while the dancing of Aunt Chloe sent the big audience into paroxysms of mirth, especially so when she came to grief at the finish of rather too high a kick. Joe Ridley as the prodigal slave runaway in the song "Coal Black Mammy of Mine," was sung from the back of the theatre and down the aisle to the stage, made a great hit, as also

The proceeds of the big entertainment were given in their entirety to the kiddies' big celebration and picnic organized by the Women's Institute for Monday, Victoria Day. There is no doubt that when the kiddies come to enjoy the good things provided by the funds, the unanimous vote will be that the Minstrel and Elks are undoubtedly the best people on earth.

During the afternoon a big street parade was held, headed by the officers of the local lodge of Elks, followed by the band, and then the minstrels in costume, after which came members of the Elks' Lodge. They paraded to the schools, where they were joined by the children, and all marched to the theatre, where a free show was given to over six hundred youngsters.

The program of the entertainment was as follows:

Opening chorus; comic song, Roger Hunt; song, I. Dixon; sextette by cornermen; comic song, Nick Hart; song, Tommy Drinkwater; song and dance, J. Bogan; song, Percy Longley; comic song, Charlie Thornton; quartette, Messrs. Ridley, Hunt, Drinkwater, and Longley; song, Joe Ridley; topical number, R. Hunt and T. Drinkwater; comic song and step dancing, Ike Dixon; closing choruses.

did Tom Drinkwater as the stranger, the rest of the cornermen easily filled in the comedy as had little nigger boys, while Lawrence Dixon as dancing Sambo gave a great exhibition of buck and wing dancing.

In the individual numbers preceding the sketch, mention should be made of Miss Olive Young who gave two songs. This young lady, who is a recent musical find for Macleod, and who won honors at the Blairmore musical festival, has a really wonderful contralto voice, and according to Mrs. F. C. Cutler, her tutor, there is every promise of Macleod being able to claim in a few years, Canada's leading contralto vocalist. Little Miss Beryl Underwood the small nine-year-old elocutionist, who is always popular with southern Alberta audiences, was given a great reception after reciting two of Robt. Service's latest poems. A black and white sketch by Ernie Young and Bill Satterwaite was also enjoyed, as were the solo numbers of Joe Ridley and Tommy Drinkwater. Charlie Underwood ably filled the difficult position of interlocutor, and needless to say filled the position and carried out the duties in the usual "SeeKay" efficient manner, while Miss Nellie Drinkwater is to be congratulated for so ably handling all the piano accompaniments. Mention should also be made of Jack Paulson who assisted very materially with band accompaniments. The whole program has caused quite a sensation, as the artists only had four weeks to rehearse, some of them never appeared on a platform before, and the capable manner in which everything was carried out, and the clever style in which all parts were taken, has simply left everyone congratulating all those who took part.

The final sketch was written by Mr. Underwood and was only given a week's rehearsal.

The proceeds of the big entertainment were given in their entirety to the kiddies' big celebration and picnic organized by the Women's Institute for Monday, Victoria Day. There is no doubt that when the kiddies come to enjoy the good things provided by the funds, the unanimous vote will be that the Minstrel and Elks are undoubtedly the best people on earth.

Cardston, May 27.—Alberta voters will go to the polls in a general election on Monday, June 28.

This announcement was made exclusively to the Lethbridge Herald last night in an interview by Premier J. E. Brownlee, who delivered the first of some 100 addresses planned for him in the next 30 days. The premier stated that June 28 was the date, and that all preparations for the election had been made. He made no announcement of the date of the election at his meeting here last night.

Mr. Brownlee is looking much improved in health, and although he is not speaking unnecessarily, he is in splendid fighting fettle for the strenuous weeks ahead. He will be in the thick of the fight from the start.

(the champions of last year), reversed the order of the two previous games, the home boys rolling up a nice little majority over the visitors.

The visitors were handicapped by some of their principal players being absent, and the same may be said of the Macleod team, as three of their best men have left Macleod since last fall, and so the game was not up to the usual style of ball played by either team. However the season is only started and we may look for some extraordinary good ball from Macleod Juniors before the end of the season.

POSTPONEMENT OF ACTION ON RESOURCES INTIMATED AT LIBERAL CAUCUS

Ottawa, May 23.A Liberal caucus today had the plain intimation from the government that the Alberta natural resources bill is unlikely to be proceeded with this year.

Americans may be dollar-chasers, but they're good sports. They don't pinch the poor things when the chase is over.

JACKIE COOGAN IN ROW WITH POLICE OVER PARKED CAR—STAR IS "TAGGED" BY COPS AFTER LEAVING TINY MACHINE OUTSIDE STUDIO AGAINST ORDERS

The law, unfortunately, takes no heed of film fame or standing, and Jackie Coogan, juvenile film star who comes to the Empress Theatre and Saturday in his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "Old Clothes," was haled into court, Culver City, California, last week for a violation of the traffic ordinance of that town.

The little actor was tagged after he had left his machine, which is of Lilliputian size, but contains a real electric motor, in front of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, where he was making his newest picture, "Old Clothes."

As a matter of fact the "arrest" was framed by his father, Jack Coogan, Sr., because the car had been left in front of the studio against his orders to Jackie. Enlisting the aid of the desk sergeant at the police station and the patrolman who tagged Jackie, the elder Coogan sought to give his famous son a good lesson in the observance of parental and civil law.

It was not until he had been severely lectured by the sergeant and had borrowed $10 from his dad, that the trick was revealed to him. Willard Mack wrote the story, Eddie Cline directed it under Jack Coogan Senior's supervision.

TOM MEIGHAN HAS GREAT COMEDY SUPPORTING CAST—BROADWAY COMEDIANS WITH STAR IN "THE NEW KLONDIKE" AT EMPRESS

A battery composed of three of the best known comedians on the stage, furnishes a continuous fire of chuckles and laughter in Tom Meighan's latest Paramount production, "The New Klondike."

Charles Winninger, whose most recent Broadway comedy success was in "No, No, Nanette," enlists his hilarious arguments to music, by having a violinist stand next him, while he charms the customers.

The last of this trio is Paul Kelly. Paul's comedy business has delighted screen lovers since the days of John Bunny and Flora Finch, in whose pictures, Kelly played juvenile parts. He goes to Florida as "Bing the Bushman," a bush-league who tries to crash the gate of a big time baseball training camp, which is part of the picture's background.

"The New Klondike," which was directed by Lewis Milestone, with Lila Lee playing opposite the star, comes to the Empress on Monday and Tuesday.

"OLD CLOTHES" IS TRIBUTE TO GIFTS OF JACKIE COOGAN—YOUNG FAVORITE IN SUBB COMEDY AT THE EMPRESS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

It's folly to attempt guessing at the infinitude of Jackie Coogan's gifts, for new ones are disclosed in abundance with each succeeding picture, in which this tiny genius appears. We keep anticipating Jackie's happy films in the hope that soon we will get a full-length portrait of Jackie, the genius, and we'll keep this up indefinitely just like the farmer who sat in the picture show for the election had been made. He made no announcement of the date of the election at his meeting here last night.

Mr. Brownlee is looking much improved in health, and although he is not speaking unnecessarily, he is in splendid fighting fettle for the strenuous weeks ahead. He will be in the thick of the fight from the start.

However the season is only started and we may look for some extraordinary good ball from Macleod Juniors before the end of the season.

On arriving at the grounds after dark was the singing of "O Canada," the unfurling and saluting the Flag, Staff Sgt. Webb, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, being the saluting officer. Sixteen pretty little girls dressed in white and wearing green sashes, the colors of the Institute, marched in and took their places round the May Pole, singing a welcome to the Queen, Miss Margaret Reid, who, with stately mien walked to the throne, which was beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens.

Preceding the Queen were two small flower girls, Gwen Ferguson and Annie Lantinga, followed by Master Jack Ryan as Page Boy carrying the Crown and Scepter. The train bearers were little Jean Eckmier and Dorothy Huntley. The Maids of Honor following were: Jean Hilliard, Madeline Hewitt, Isabel Callie, Rita Long, May Grier and Margery Greenwood. The Maids of Honor formed in two lines, and the Flower Girls and Train Bearers grouped around the throne made most beautiful and charming picture.

Mayor J. W. McDonald, standing behind the throne, performed the ceremony of Crowning the Queen, and needless to say, the Mayor after his several experiences during the past few years along this line, is now a past master in performing this beautiful ceremony. After placing the Crown, Mayor McDonald expressed his pleasure at being asked to officiate on this occasion, and in a few appropriate remarks, reminded the children and all present of the reason why they were having a holiday that day. He reminded them of the good Queen Victoria who had reigned over the British Empire for over sixty years, and how during her lifetime, her birthday has always been kept as a holiday throughout the nation, and after her death, the parliaments and the people decided to commemorate her wonderful life by still holding the 24th of May as a holiday, and calling it "Empire Day" or "Victoria Day." The twining of the May Pole then followed, which was beautifully done, the band playing the accompaniment. Following are the names of the May Pole dancers: Nina Ringland, Mary McLeod, Mary McGregor, June Ryan, Dora Parker, Peggy Huntley, Edith McDonald, Ruth Day, Florence Lantinga, Dorothy Pinder, Margaret Swinarton, Queenie Maltby, Ethel Thornton, Dorothy Hilliard, Betty Gilroy and Jane Bailey.

A very pretty dance followed—"The Morris Dance." The dancers were: Lola Campbell, Ruth Ringland, Margaret Hillier, Ethel Thornton, Connie Reid, Betty Gilroy, Gladys Cooney, Queenie Maltby and Alice Grant.

Little Miss Anna Fansett then stepped forward and presented the Queen and each of the Maids of Honor and attendants with suitable gifts from the Institute.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE AND ELK CELEBRATION ON MAY 24th A HUGE SUCCESS—THE KIDDIES HAD A WONDERFUL TIME

The great and long looked for celebration of the Women's Institute of Macleod was carried out Monday May 24th, in fine style from start to finish, not a hitch or accident occurred to mar the whole proceedings. The day's fun and frolic started off with a monster parade from the town square, led by the Elks' Band. Beautifully decorated cars followed the band, bearing the Queen elect and her retinue of followers, including the Maids of Honor, Pages and Flower Girls.

May Pole Girls and Dancers, truly a wonderful display of Youth and Beauty. It was estimated that about 150 cars were lined up in the procession, and double that number were parked on the grounds during the afternoon. Being a children's celebration, it was without doubt the largest gathering of children ever seen in Macleod. There must have been considerably over 1000 children on the grounds. Enjoy themselves—did they?—no need to ask that, for it was one continuous round of fun and excitement the whole afternoon. Never did kiddies have such a good time.

On arriving at the grounds after dark was the singing of "O Canada," the unfurling and saluting the Flag, Staff Sgt. Webb, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, being the saluting officer. as the Women's Institute was concerned.

The Elks then took hold, and the fun began. First ice cream—a number of sturdy and strong sons of the Order were lined up, and dished out the delectable and toothsome refreshment to the clamoring mob of open-eyed and open-mouthed youngsters. When the first relay of the strenuous exertions, another batch of fresh ones were called to the front, and so the serving of ice cream was kept up the whole afternoon, much to the joy and delight of the youngsters. Sports such as races, sack races, 3 leg races, apple grabs, for both boys and girls, all ages and sizes, were indulged in, money prizes being given to the winners, and a bar of chocolate to the losers. Then there were peanut scrambles and orange and apple scrambles galore. Never before in the history of Macleod did the kiddies have such a grand and glorious time. The Elks sure did themselves proud, and the children of Macleod, Granum, (yes Granum, they say there wasn't a child left in Granum that day) and from 25 to 30 miles from Macleod were all there, and will never forget the big celebration put on by the Women's Institute and Elks of Macleod on Victoria Day 1926. The band enlivened the proceedings considerably by playing a large number of musical selections. We had almost forgotten to mention an item which caused great amusement and merriment to the young folks, aye, and to the old folks too, viz.—the antics and contortions of the four clowns, Ike Dixon, Bill Lingings, George Wood and Nick Hart, who certainly kept the crowd in fits of laughter all the time.

The winner in the decorated cars was J. Swinarton, and in the bicycles, Jackie Cutler.

To finish up the Big Day, the Women's Institute gave a Ball in the Hudson's Bay Hall, and large as the Hall is, it was taxed to its capacity that night, when a crowd of over 400 were present to enjoy the hospitality of the ladies in the great finale of the day. The hall was decorated in White and Green, the colors of the Institute, and the music was everything that could be desired. It was no easy matter to serve refreshments for such a huge assemblage, but the ladies were equal to the occasion and were there with the goods. At the close every one declared it had been a wonderful day, and a wonderful finish. The Grand March at the Ball was led by Mayor J. W. McDonald and Mrs. McDonald.

The convenors of the different departments for the Institute were: Mrs. Maltby, general convenor; Mrs. Sutherland, advertising; Mrs. Adee, May Queen; Mrs. Hill, May Pole; Mrs. Ryan, dancer; Mrs. James Ringland, refreshments and Miss Lillian Hicks for Girl Guides.

The proceeds of the Dance and the Tags at the Sports, will be divided equally between the Institute and the Band.

POLICY OF THE MACLEOD TIMES

The editorial policy of the Macleod Times during this provincial election for future ones during such time as Macleod has but one newspaper, is and will be to take a strictly neutral stand regarding politics.

The personnel of the Times' business patronage is divided on political questions—some favoring one school of politics—some another—and the management of this paper does not believe it would be fair to exploit the views of one portion of the patrons and supporters of this paper at the expense of the other portion. It is and has been the policy of the Times to work toward harmony among the people of the town and district of Macleod; on occasions, even suppressing news which might disclose the weaknesses or misfortune of individuals, which might be hurtful to such individuals' friends or might engender animosities—and it is believable that the Times' record will tend towards its readers' faith in its sincerity on this occasion.

Also let it be remembered that a newspaper is a medium of expression of opinions and be not surprised should you read on this page expressions of opinions from all factions in the present political campaign—The Times' mutual friends perhaps renting its literary field as an arena in which to settle a temporary dispute, with the readers of the Times as referees.

The Times bespeaks the thoughtful consideration of its readers in perusing the arguments and statements of all factions if presented in this paper with a view to making an intelligent decision at the polls in the coming election in the best interests of this district and of the province.

GOOD NEWS OF CANADA'S PROGRESS IS WIDELY SPREAD

One of the most extensive distributions of information about Canada which have ever taken place occurred with The Christian Science Monitor's recent All-Canada supplement. The world-wide circulation of this international daily newspaper was given 48 pages of material concerning Canada which covered the country from coast to coast, and in addition to the great physical resources of the Dominion sketched what Canadians are accomplishing in trade and in literature, art, music, sculpture and education.

The reports from the various great universities brought out sharply what an advance Canada is making in the higher education. To mention some of them, the beautiful new buildings of The University of Saskatchewan and the University of British Columbia have risen almost simultaneously, while Alberta is adding to its notable plant, growing apace. In Nova Scotia, famous Dalhousie University is putting up handsome structures and planning ambitiously. Meantime the University of Toronto has forged ahead with a great enrolment which it states has placed it first among Canadian universities in this respect. A comprehensive article on Canadian college education was contributed to this issue by Professor W. T. Allison of the University of Manitoba, also president of the Canadian Authors' Association.

It is well that there has been such widespread dissemination of this and similar data about Canada, as the rest of the world is ill-informed as to the actual character of the Dominion today. In place of the coldness, bleakness and barrenness often popularly attributed to Canada, beyond its borders, Canada is a nation with its own literature, its own developing school of art, and its people with individual characteristics. Many of the special issues of newspapers and magazines that have dealt with Canada have emphasized only the material side, reciting the impressive and necessary facts about its resources of timber, water power, minerals and other wealth. Partly through such publicity the world at large has been informed of Canada's native riches. The time, however, appears to be at hand for the press to go a step further and display in its special Canadian publicity something of the cultural wealth of the Canadian people. The steps taken at any rate in the Canadian supplement of the Monitor have proved generally enlightening.

Within the United States 108,350 copies of this issue were distributed and 10,901 were sent overseas, the bulk of these to Great Britain and the balance of the British Empire. Canadians themselves received 257,042 copies. Miscellaneous circulation in addition brought the total to 396,421. The entire issue, faced with the Monitor's regular news section, occupied 54 pages. It took 297 rolls of 72 inch paper weighing 2 1/4 tons to print. Canadian Advertising extended from Halifax to Victoria. Their number totaled 1,072. In all they supported the enterprise with 210 columns of advertising.

Primarily the issue was designed to promote a larger understanding of Canada in the United States and abroad. The viewpoint of The Christian Science Monitor is international; in its Canadian supplement it pursued a plan it followed previously in issues devoted to the British Empire in connection with the Wembley exhibition, Switzerland, and a number of the American states.

Published in Boston, Massachusetts, the Monitor has maintained a keen interest in Canadian serious, but by no means the only result of using the same land year after year for bringing up the youngsters, is worm infestation, and this is a condition that is responsible for a big loss to many poultry men.

The most common types of worms found in fowls, are round, caecal and tapes. These all harbour in the intestines, passing out their eggs with the droppings. In the case of the first two, if these eggs are picked up by the chickens or other fowls, they will develop in their new host with very serious results, particularly in the young stock, if they are in any quantity. Tape worms have a different life history, and are more difficult to control, as the eggs, must be eaten by an intermediate host, such as snails, slugs, etc., in which they develop, completing their development in the intestine of the fowl after it has picked up this intermediate host.

Once a fowl has become infested with intestinal worms, it is a difficult matter to rid it of them, and the best remedy is prevention, which is to raise your chickens on new land.

OUR MOUNTAIN

We who dwell in these deep valleys See the sun too quickly set; But the memory of his brightness In our spirits lingers yet. And upon the lofty snow-peaks, Red as embers glowing bright, For the sun, though sunk in ocean, Keeps his fire still, for the height. Here behold our emblem, brothers, Loss nor harm have we to dread From the shadow, vast, far stretching.

Of the mountain overhead. Mountains—it is they that shorten The deep darkness of the night With the glory long enduring. On the loftiest snow-clad height. The horizon ne'er is hidden By a mountain; nay, in time It is broadened, for each summit Seems to call on us to climb! On these rains the snow's white mantle.

'Tis a song that to the plain Flows again to make it fertile, Giving us our fields of grain. Though the granaries fill, barren Though they rugged slopes uplift; And, while giving all, thou keepest The calm grandeur of the gift.

Young Farmer Tells of Alberta to Old Country Readers

Mr. H. Macpherson, a young Scotchman, who was among the first group of Hoadley boys to study agriculture in Alberta at the Vermilion School of Agriculture, writes to a newspaper in Scotland to tell of his experiences and the opportunities here. Mr. Macpherson is now on a farm near Mirror, Alberta. He writes as follows of his experiences in Alberta, in the Stirling Journal:

I just wonder if you boys are content to stop at home when there are wonderful chances in Canada waiting you. As you are no doubt aware, Western Canada is noted for farming, grain and dairy produce, and there are immense tracts of land awaiting cultivation. Why not come to Sunny Alberta and go in for farming?

To any who are considering this step, I will give some useful information. In the first place, I should advise studying farming conditions in this country at any of the three Agricultural Schools in Alberta—Vermilion, Olds, and Claresholm. As my experience has been gained at Vermilion, I will describe that school, though the other two are identical with Vermilion. The

THE RESOURCES OF AN EMPIRE!

For Present and Future Development in the Province of Alberta

DAME NATURE has been kind to the Province of Alberta. No Province of Canada occupies so strong a fundamental position as Alberta, with its great wealth of agricultural and other resources, the development of which has only just begun. Surely then, with so sure a basis for faith and confidence in the future, the people of Alberta need not hesitate to face the problems that arise, nor to join in the shoulder-to-shoulder movement for the intelligent promotion of the development of these great resources. Knowledge of these resources is all that is necessary to create confidence. It is for this reason that this newspaper presents below a brief review of Alberta's wealth and possibilities.

NATURAL RESOURCES BILL AMENDED AND PASSED BY LEGISLATURE ON SATURDAY BEFORE THE PROLOGUE—AMENDMENT OFFERED BY ROBERT PEARSON, THAT ADMINISTRATION OF SCHOOL LANDS FUND BE "IN ACCORDANCE WITH LAW OF PROVINCE," ACCEPTED DESPITE OPPOSITION OF LIBERALS WHO CLAIM NO AMENDMENT NEEDED AND THAT IT WILL MERELY DELAY ACTION AT OTTAWA

Edmonton, May 25.—Adopting the amendment to the natural resources bill proposed by the Rev. Robert Pearson, at the suggestion of Premier Brownlee, the Alberta legislature Saturday afternoon passed the measures as amended, following an all day sitting, broken by numerous conferences, and was prorogued shortly before six o'clock by Lieutenant-Governor Egbert.

Mr. Pearson's amendment was identical with one of the three optional and practically similar ones presented to the house in the morning by the premier and which he said it was necessary to pass in order to safeguard the rights of the province in the administration of the school lands fund. The amendment is made to the clause of the agreement dealing with the administration of the school lands fund, and provides for changing of the words "in accordance with the provisions of section 17 of the Alberta act" to read "in accordance with the law of the province."

Section 17 of the Alberta act provides for the protection of the rights of minorities in the matter of separate schools and the contention of the government is that the amendment merely continues the status of the separate school question as it at present exists. In other words if, at some future time, some individual or body wishes to challenge the validity of the act before the privy council the passage of the natural resources measure will not affect the situation.

Liberal Opposition

The amendment was opposed by the Liberal opposition, led by Capt. Bowen, who took the ground that the final passage of the amended bill was practically an ultimatum to the Dominion government and closed the door on any future negotiation for the present time. He wished for another adjournment of the house for further negotiation.

Premier Brownlee retorted that the amendment should not be considered as offered in a spirit of a challenge to Ottawa but only to make clear an issue about which both sides said there was no dispute. He hoped to continue the negotiations and stressed the contention that the house should pass the bill and thus make clear that, on the main question of the transfer of the resources, there was no desire on the part of the province to back down.

Only one member of the French Canadian contingent in the legislature expressed himself. J. P. L. Joly, U.F.A. St. Paul, rose in his place just before the vote was taken and said that he was in favor of the bill as it originally stood and was opposed to any amendment.

Whether the bill in its amended form will be acceptable to the Ottawa government remains to be seen. The only inkling of the federal attitude that the house received was contained in the remarks of the opposition leader, Capt. Bowen, who contended that the passage of the amendment effectively shut the door to further negotiation. It is known that the Liberals in the legislature have been in close touch by wire with the Hon. Charles Stewart and other ministers at the Dominion capital, and it is possible that the opposition leader's remarks may indicate the view of the King government.

When the legislature resumed in the afternoon following a lunch hour consideration of the premier's speech Capt. Bowen inquired after the house had gone into committee which of the three amendments suggested by the premier he proposed offering.

Leaves it to House

Mr. Brownlee replied that he would prefer leaving that to the house as he believed any one of the three would meet the situation. In order however, to bring up the discussion he would move the third which might be changed to one of the others if the committee so desired. This read: "Provided that nothing in paragraph A shall be construed so as to add to, detract from, alter, or limit the exercise of the constitutional powers of the province to make laws in relation to education as such power existed immediately before the making of such agreement."

Capt. Bowen in rising to present the viewpoint of the opposition congratulated the premier on the fair manner in which he had made his statement in the morning. His presentation, he said, had left a good impression on the house and on all who had heard it.

No Controversy Wanted

"We did not want to raise a controversy on this question," he continued, "but rather to reach a conclusion that will be satisfactory to all parties." After touching briefly on the early stages leading up to the drafting of the agreement before the legislature he said that the amendment now offered by the premier on the eve of the election leaves the whole question in the arena of public discussion and controversy. This, he believed, was very undesirable and so far as the Liberals were concerned they were very anxious that the question should not reach the realm of controversy.

"To pass the amendment as suggested," he asserted, "is to send an ultimatum to the government of Canada. Not another change can be made in the bill if it is now passed by the house. By passing it we are shutting the door on the settlement of the natural resources at the present time. We are putting Ottawa in the position that if the amendment is not acceptable, the negotiations have to be dropped for the present year."

Capt. Bowen, continuing, said that he would offer the following suggestions: Agree that we should leave the school lands with the parliament of Canada as at present; or that the house should adjourn for another period and that the government be authorized to continue in negotiation and when a settlement is arrived at call the legislature together again. A third proposal was that the question should be left in abeyance while the government or their successors should continue the negotiations to reach a satisfactory understanding.

"These suggestions," said Capt. Bowen, "I am offering in all earnestness and without any desire to make political issue out of the question."

Brownlee's Reply

Premier Brownlee in reply pointed out that it was essential that there should be an election before July 18 as the time of the legislature expired on that date. He did not think that it was either feasible or desirable to have another adjournment as suggested by the opposition leader.

Referring to the proposal of Capt. Bowen that the school lands administration should be left with the Dominion, the premier said that he had taken this suggestion up on the occasion of a recent visit to Ottawa but he found that there were certain complications, and he was sure that such a condition would not be desirable. In the handling of the public lands a large part of the machinery would have to be handed over to the province, and if the school lands control was retained by the Dominion it would mean there would be a duplication which would be unsatisfactory.

The last suggestion of the opposition leader that the whole question should be left in abeyance had been considered, said the premier, and he had reached the conclusion that such a course would not keep down the discussion to such an extent as the line of action which was now proposed.

Accept Dominion Proposal

He was prepared to give his personal assurance that he would take no action that would put an end to the negotiations. He contended that the adoption of one of the suggested amendments would give the stamp of approval to the transfer negotiations, and if the amendment was not satisfactory to Ottawa he was prepared to accept any amendment that the federal government might offer, and which would provide that there should be neither addition to or subtraction from the present rights of the province.

Following another appeal by Capt. Bowen for delay the premier asked that there should be another adjournment for an hour or less in order that there might be an informal conference between the leaders of the two sides. To this the leader of the opposition said he would gladly accede.

No Challenge to Ottawa

Resuming shortly after five o'clock Premier Brownlee again reiterated that the amendment was not offered in any spirit of challenge or with the intention of closing the door to further negotiations. He contended that anything short of the passing of the bill would not indicate that the house accepted the essential terms of the transfer of the resources.

Continuing he said that he was prepared to accept the amendment suggested by Rev. Robt. Pearson providing for the administration of the school lands "according to the law of the province." This meant that the status of the school question remained after the passage of the act as it was at present.

Liberal Amendment

Capt. Bowen then moved his amendment to the amendment which read: "That it is the opinion of the legislature that the matter of the resources should be left over while the government continues negotiations with a view to arriving at a solution satisfactory to both parties."

"Passing the bill today means that all negotiations are off," declared the opposition leader. Premier Brownlee retorted that the government was opposing the Bowen amendment because it meant a stay in the securing of the resources. He again asserted that he was not opposed to further negotiation.

A Party Division

The Bowen amendment was defeated on party division and the Pearson amendment was carried on a similar division.

The bill was subsequently given its third reading as amended and finally passed.

Before the arrival of the lieutenant-governor for prorogation the premier took occasion to refer to an article in a Calgary paper placing the blame on him for the delay on Friday. "The reason for the delay on Friday," he explained, "was a matter of courtesy to the Ottawa government who, I felt, should be apprised of the intended action and should be given sufficient time to reply if it so desired."

Premier Won't Retire

He also touched on the reports which have been current that he intended retiring after the election to accept a position with the wheat pool.

"I can say quite emphatically that I have no intention of retiring," he declared amid applause from members on the government benches.

At 5:45 the lieutenant-governor arrived and, after assenting to six bills prorogued, the sixth session of the fifth legislature of the province.

As a rule, it takes unreasonable people to afford momentum enough to accomplish a reasonable reform.

PROVINCE HAS OFFER TO SETTLE WITH ROYAL BANK FOR $1,300,000 FOR ITS CLAIM AGAINST E.D. & C. RAILWAY

Edmonton, May 21.—Definite announcement that an agreement had been reached between the province and the Royal Bank for the settlement of the bank's claim against the Dunvegan railway was made by Premier Brownlee in his statement on the northern railway situation before the legislature on Thursday afternoon.

The premier told the house that the agreement provided for the payment of the sum of $1,300,000 in return for the common stock held by the bank, and that this sum was payable in three instalments, $200,000 in five years, $500,000 in seven years, and $500,000 in ten years, with interest at five per cent., or in the alternative a cash payment of $1,275,000.

Lengthy correspondence made up the letters written by the premier to the federal minister of railways, Hon. Mr. Dunning, to the heads of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, and to Premier King were read to the house. Those to the Ottawa ministers urged that the Dominion take over the Dunvegan railway as a means of the furtherance of the immigration policy, while President Beatty and Sir Henry Thornton were asked to submit note offers for either the lease or the purchase of the railway.

Offer Road to Dominion

In a second letter to Hon. Mr. Dunning, Hon. Mr. Brownlee quoted figures as a basis for negotiations should the Dominion government consider the buying of the line. A fair valuation of the railway, said the premier in his letter, is approximately $17,472,994.34, and against this the province has guaranteed debentures totalling $9,420,000 payable in thirty years from date of issue and has also advanced other sums amounting to $9,388,456, making a total of $18,808,456.

As a basis for consideration he suggested that the Dominion should (a) assume the liability for the payment of the said guaranteed bonds of $9,420,000; (b) issue debentures or other security payable on such terms as may be agreed upon for 50 per cent. of the amount advanced by the province as above, $4,694,228; also that the Dominion government assume the security held by the Royal Bank, namely, $2,400,000 with accrued interest.

Mr. Brownlee intimated that he had received a new offer from the Canadian Pacific for the operation of the line but he did not feel justified in making it public until he had also heard from the other railway.

TO THE POULTRY BREEDERS OF CANADA

In 1927 will occur the most momentous event that has ever happened in Canadian poultry development.

In the latter part of July and the beginning of August of that year will be held in the city of Ottawa, Canada, the World's Poultry Congress which will undoubtedly be the greatest gathering of those interested in the poultry industry that the world has ever seen.

From all parts of the world from the east, the west, the north and the south will flock to Ottawa—the Poultryman's Mecca—for the time being—people interested in this great and rapidly developing industry.

Exhibits demonstrating all phases of the poultry industry will be staged, and this is written with the idea of drawing to the attention of Canadian poultry breeders the wonderful opportunity that will be afforded them to show to the world just what they have and what they can breed. Canadian breeders will be particularly fortunate because there will be at least three sections in which they may exhibit their birds.

1. The National Exhibit in which two trios of each variety may be shown.

2. Specialty club and other associations exhibits.

3. Exhibits of individual breeders. These exhibits will include both exhibition and commercial strains. There will be no competition, but each exhibitor will be given credit for his exhibit by having his name and address attached to the coops in which his birds are shown. His name and address and the sale price of his birds will appear in the official "Programme and Directory of Exhibitors."

Think what this will mean to you. At one grand stroke advertising to the whole world, the fact that you are producing birds and are open to do business.

Now is the time to prepare. Next spring will be too late. The Congress will be too early in the season for young stock so that nothing but mature birds will be exhibited.

The breeders of recorded production poultry will be aware to this great opportunity and will get the reward they justly deserve. Breeders of exhibition quality birds don't be blind to your opportunities, be prepared to reap a harvest.

Late hatched chicks, if given proper care, frequently grow well and develop into the best colored birds of the year making ideal birds for early fall showing the following season. This applies equally well to males from recorded production stock, but it will be obvious that this does not apply to females of this line of breeding as only birds with officially recorded production will be shown.

Birds that have been used in the breeding pens are seldom in the best of condition to show before moulting.

Get ready now by hatching a few more chicks than usual so that you will have some to hold over to show at the World's Poultry Congress Exhibition.

Full information will be gladly furnished either by the Congress Secretary, E. Rhoades or by George Robertson, Chairman of the Live Bird Exhibit.

This is a STUDEBAKER Year A SYMBOL THAT MEANS SOMETHING

"Body by Studebaker"—here is a phrase that is rich in meaning to the man who is about to buy a motor car. It means a saving of hundreds of dollars on a car, for Studebaker builds all its own bodies in its own $10,000,000 body plants—and saves middleman's profits. And it means a car of distinctly original design—a car of unusual beauty with finish and appointments of a quality that is unsurpassed. "Body by Studebaker" is a symbol of quality—a mark of fine craftsmanship that is worth looking for.

ELMSLIE W. GARDINER GIVEN PH. D. DEGREE BY COAST 'VARSITY' — UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA CONFERS DEGREE ON BRILLIANT MACLEOD BOY

In recent years, considerable distinction has fallen upon the Macleod public and high schools by reason of the fact that several who have obtained their early education here have gone out and have obtained academic distinction elsewhere. Word has just been received from Berkeley University, California, that Elmslie W. Gardiner has just completed his post graduate course with the degree of Ph. D.

Dr. Gardiner was born in Annan, Dumfriesshire, Scotland, in 1899, but came to Macleod with his parents, R. J. E. Gardiner and Mrs. Gardiner when only two and a half years old, and took all of his public and high school course in Macleod where he went through all grades including the twelfth grade of the high school. He then took a normal training and is the holder of a first class professional certificate. Dr. Gardiner taught one year at Parkerville School and three months at Howe School prior to entering the University of Alberta.

In 1918 he entered the University of Alberta as a second year student and was senior demonstrator in the scientific laboratories for two years before his graduation with first rank honors in chemistry as B.Sc. in 1922. Upon graduation from Alberta university he obtained a teaching fellowship in Berkeley University, California, and for four years has been taking a post graduate course there which has finally resulted in his obtaining the coveted degree which he now holds. Dr. Gardiner's academic course throughout has been of very much interest to many people in Macleod, particularly to those who knew him from childhood. The good wishes of many people place him and it is hoped by all spoke of Bro. Russell's connection with the lodge. Bro. Russell feelingly replied thanking the brothers for the unexpected gift, and stating that he would always look back with

The Macleod fire brigade got a quick call last Thursday evening to an outbreak of fire on the roof of Joe Lemire's shoe shop on Main street. The fire was supposed to have been started from some firecrackers thrown by boys. All that was required to extinguish the flames was the application of the chemical and a few buckets of water, as the flames were observed before they got much of a hold. Had the outbreak been later in the evening, it might have been serious, as several old buildings adjoin, and the flames would have spread quickly.

GENERAL MERCHANTS—FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
BOOTS AND SHOES

Don't forget to order your preserving Strawberries and other preserving fruits and vegetables. They will soon be over as the season was early. You have such a secure feeling when you have placed your orders—also you get better fruit. You are better off every way.

While you are waiting for the garden to mature, you had better come at the last moment to get some of our bedding plants, all kinds of flowers and vegetable plants. It always rains when you have planted your seeds. Don't forget that for one week we will be selling all you want for a garden.

Our persistent efforts to reduce our stock—culling out odd sizes and slow selling goods has been much appreciated by the public and our mind is easier. We still have lots of odd sizes and other goods that will have to be sold out, so fresh goods can be bought with the money.

The men folks are pleased with our window display of boots and Balm. We did not protect the price. But cut it down far below cost. One man said those are the cheapest yet. Just fancy a beautiful Velour calf, Dongola Balm, Mahogany Blucher or any other kind. We will still have to make special prices of women's stock, as our stock is too large and varied. We have to use patience, Macleod is not a big city and it takes time to dispose of stock—no matter at what price.
